LAKE
WINNIPEG
FOUNDATION

Dear LWF supporter,

Summer has arrived in Manitoba – and, thanks to your support, our team is keeping very busy, advocating for change and coordinating on-the-ground action to protect Lake Winnipeg, all while continuing to navigate a dynamic public health situation.

Extra! Extra!

The latest edition of our newsletter, The Watershed Observer, is out!

In the Spring & Summer 2021 issue, we explain how community-based monitoring can be leveraged to complete the data-to-impact cycle, reflect on the legacy of limnological legend David Schindler, and share details about the Lake Winnipeg Indigenous Collective's new website and podcast series – plus more!

Lucky stones for Lake Winnipeg

Winnipeg jewelry designer Johanna Brierley has launched a new collection in support of a healthy lake! The 10 made-to-order pieces in the JBJD + LWF Collection were created using “lucky stones” from the beaches of Lake Winnipeg, discovered and generously donated by local lake-lovers.

All proceeds from the limited-time collection are being donated to LWF. Purchase your piece today at johannabrierley.com.

Summer events 2021

Our summer fundraising season is here! Whether in person or online, we love connecting with members and supporters who share our vision of a clean, healthy Lake Winnipeg.

For more information about planned summer events, visit our website. We are closely monitoring public health updates and we are prepared to adapt all activities as needed in order to optimize safety and adhere to all regulations. Updates will be shared on our website and social media – check back often to keep informed on the latest plans!

Whatever your summer plans, we hope you are staying safe and keeping healthy.

Thank you for your continued interest in the health of Lake Winnipeg,

The LWF team
